Description	Ayurveda, the ancient medicinal system originating in India, has found various applications during the COVID-19 pandemic. It's crucial to recognize that while Ayurveda provides strategies for enhancing overall health and well-being, it does not substitute established medical treatments or vaccination. Ayurvedic practices have been adopted during the pandemic as a supplementary and supportive approach, focusing on strengthening immunity and stress management. Highlighting its significance, our college's NSS Unit collaborated with the Government Ayurvedic Dispensary, Srikakulam to organize an event named 'AYU SAMVAD – My Health My Responsibility: Ayurveda for COVID-19 Pandemic' on April 1, 2021, within our college seminar hall. The event featured Dr. J. Dhanunjay Rao and Dr. K. Madhavarao Chowdary from the Government Ayurvedic Dispensary, Srikakulam, who emphasized the role of Ayurveda in enhancing immunity. Ayurveda underscores the importance of a robust immune system and suggests various Ayurvedic herbs and supplements like Tulsi (holy basil), Ashwagandha, Turmeric, and Amla, believed to possess immune-boosting properties. A total of 72 NSS volunteers from SSCE actively participated and gained valuable insights into the significance of Ayurveda.
